Wulf Cattle Hospitality Tent was Popular in the Yards

The National Western Stock Show, held in Denver, Colorado every January is a place for cattlemen and women across the country to meet, share stories and discuss the cattle industry.

This year found many Limousin breeders enjoying the hospitality and warmth of the Wulf Cattle tent in the Yards. People gathered for a cup of coffee, sign up for door prizes, reconnect with fellow cattlemen, and view the photos and videos of cattle featured on the Wulf "Opportunity Sale of 2013" to be held March 22, 2013 in Morris, MN.

Names were drawn during the Pen and Carload Show and the winners were announced.

$500 sale credit on the Wulf's

Opportunity Sale: Tim Keppel of Baraboo, WI and Eric Boon of Lucky Lake, Saskatchewan.

Ten unites of semen on a Wulf herd sire of their choice: Craig Vaughn of Cavalier, ND and Francisco Rodriguez of Lakon, KS.

The winners of a Wulf cattle jacket were: David Lührman of Goodhue, MN; John Bromely of Leon, NY; Chris Blalcock of Fairfield, VA; Pat Meek of Parker, KS; Trails End Limousin of Loyal, WI; Jake Moser of Morris, MN; Patty Chapman of Petrolia, CA; Judy Symens of Sisseton, SD; Jamie Watts of Fairfield, NE and John Sutphin III of Lamar, CO.

Congratulations to all these winners!
